

I am strongly opposed to media corporations being allowed to own more outlets in any one given market. I am a former journalist and well aware of how the concentration of media ownership can lead to poorer quality news and information.